NAS Meridian hosts Bells Across America for Fallen Service Members

Photos by MC2 Molly Tice

Fleet and Family Support Center hosted the Bells Across America for Fallen Service Members ceremony at the Naval Reserve Center onboard NAS Meridian, Sept. 25. Bells Across America is a Navy Gold Star Program event that “ensures families of the fallen know their loved ones are remembered”. During the ceremony names are called out and a bell is rung in tribute of the fallen. The parents of 2nd Lt Anthony Scardino, Army National Guard and native of Mississippi, were in attendance alongside NAS staff and students.

Twelve aviators earn Wings of Gold in September ceremony

From Staff Reports

There was a naval aviator designation ceremony September 26 onboard Naval Air Station Meridian. Three aviators received their “Wings of Gold” during the ceremony.

The naval aviator designation ceremony is not prescribed specifically by U.S. Navy regulations, but has emerged as an honored product of the rich heritage of naval tradition. It marks the culmination of nearly two years of specialized training, which has prepared these officers for the rigorous demands of aerial combat and carrier operations earning each the title of “Naval Aviator” and the right to wear the coveted “Wings of Gold.”

Ensign Theo Stanislas Anicet, French Navy, selected for E-2’s and underwent Multi-Service Training in Corpus Christi, Texas before training in Meridian. He carrier qualified in the T-45C on board the USS Harry S. Truman (CVN 75) on September 19. Ensign Anicet completed Advanced Jet Flight Training with Training Squadron Seven.

Ensign Mikaël Beaumont, French

Navy, is a graduate of the Tristan Corbière Aeronautical School, where he received a Associate’s Degree in Aeronautical Maintenance. During Primary Flight Training. Ensign Beaumont was named to the Commodore’s List. While in Advanced Jet Flight Training, he earned four Navy “E’s” for bombing accuracy. He carrier qualified in the T-45C on board the USS Harry S. Truman (CVN 75) on September 19. Ensign Beaumont completed Advanced Jet Flight Training with Training Squadron Seven.

LTJG Courtney Julia Breen, USN, is a graduate of the Unites States Naval Academy, where she received a Bachelor of Science degree with distinction in Operations Research. LTJG Breen selected for E-2’s and underwent Multi-Service Training in Corpus Christi, Texas, before training in Meridian. LTJG Breen will continue training in Norfolk, Virginia, where she will learn to fly the E-2 Hawkeye. She carrier qualified in the T-45C on board the USS Harry S. Truman (CVN 75) on September 20. LTJG Breen completed Advanced Jet Flight Training with Training Squadron Nine.

LT Manuel Cervera, Spanish Navy, is a graduate of the Spanish Naval Academy, where he received a degree in Mechanical Engineering. In the Fleet, LT Cervera was stationed on board the F-83 Frigate “Numancia”. While on board the “Numanica”, he deployed to the Horn of Africa as part of EUNAVFOR Operations Atalanta to contribute to Maritime Security in the Western Indian Ocean and the Red Sea. In 2023, LT Cervera was selected for Naval Aviation Training and began his Primary Flight Training at NAS Whiting Field with Training Squadron Three.

During Advanced Jet Flight Training, he earned two Navy “E” for bombing accuracy. LT Cervera completed Advanced Jet Flight Training with Training Squadron Nine.

LT Richard Thomas Fetter, USN, is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering. LT Fetter is also a graduate of the Naval Post graduate School, where he received a Master of Science in Operations

Research. LT Fetter selected for E-2’s and underwent Multi-Service Training in Corpus Christi before training in Meridian. He carrier qualified in the T-45C on board the USS Harry S. Truman (CVN 75) on September 19. LT Fetter completed Advanced Jet Flight Training with Training Squadron Seven.

LTJG Jack Avery House, USN, is a graduate of the University of Kansas, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Aerospace Engineering and Physics. LTJG House selected for E-2’s and underwent Multi-Service Training in Corpus Christi, before training in Meridian. He carrier qualified in the T-45C on board the USS Harry S. Truman (CVN 75) on September 19. LTJG House completed Advanced Jet Flight Training with Training Squadron Seven.

Ensign Hugo Le Rolland, French Navy, was named to the Commodore’s List during Primary Flight Training. While in Advanced Jet Flight Training, he earned four Navy “E’s” for bombing accuracy. He carrier qualified in the T-45C on board the USS Harry S. Truman (CVN 75) on September 19. Ensign Le Rolland completed Advanced Jet Flight Training with Training Squadron Seven.

Pentagon awards contract for newest F-35s

By Stephen Losey
navytimes.com

The Pentagon on Monday awarded Lockheed Martin a $12.5 billion contract for nearly 300 of the newest F-35 Joint Strike Fighters. The U.S. Navy said in a statement the contract modification will definitize 148 F-35s from the 18th lot of the jets and add scope for the production and delivery of another 148 fighters in lot 19. Monday's announcement builds on another lot 18 and 19 contract announcement from December 2024 worth $11.8 billion. It brings the total to about $24.3 billion. Lockheed Martin will primarily build these jets at its Fort Worth, Texas, factory, and the company said it would start delivering them next year. The per-jet price increase will be less than the rate of inflation, Lockheed said. "The F-35 Lot 18-19 contract represents continued confidence in the most affordable and capable fighter aircraft in production today," Chauncey McIntosh, Lockheed's vice president and general manager of the F-35 program, said in a statement. "We are proud to support our customers and further solidify the F-35's role in enabling peace through strength." Twelve nations, including the United States, South Korea and Israel, now fly the more than 1,230 F-35s that are in service. The Pentagon's contract announcements Monday also included a $101 million cost-plus-fixed-fee deal to buy F-35 parts in advance that might face shortages or diminished manufacturing sources. Another contract to Lockheed, worth $137 million, would pay for engineering changes to lot 17 of the F-35, as well as seek to reverse diminishing manufacturing sources. The Pentagon also awarded Lockheed an $11.6 million contract to redesign a

U.S. Navy to christen future USS Louis H. Wilson Jr.

From navy.mil

BATH, Maine — The U.S. Navy will christen the future USS Louis H. Wilson Jr. (DDG 126), during a ceremony at General Dynamics Bath Iron Works (BIW) on Saturday, September 27, at 10:30 a.m. (EST).BATH, Maine

The U.S. Navy will christen the future USS Louis H. Wilson Jr. (DDG 126), during a ceremony at General Dynamics Bath Iron Works (BIW) on Saturday, September 27, at 10:30 a.m. (EST). The principal address will be delivered by Commandant of the Marine Corps, Gen. Eric Smith; Additional speakers include Governor of Maine, Janet Mills; U.S. Senator of Maine Angus King; Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Research, Development, and Acquisition, Jason Potter; Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Integration of Capabilities and Resources, Vice Adm. Brad Skillman; Medal of Honor Recipient, Col. Harvey C. Barnum, Jr.; and President of General Dynamics Bath Iron Works, Chuck Krugh.

In a time-honored tradition, ship sponsors Janet Wilson Taylor, daughter of the namesake and Susan J. Rabern, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Financial Management and Comptroller, will christen the ship by breaking a bottle of sparkling wine across the bow.

The ship is named after Gen. Louis Hugh Wilson Jr., a World War II and Vietnam War veteran who was awarded the Medal of Honor for his heroism during the Battle of Guam. Following his service in Vietnam, he served as the 26th Commandant of the Marine Corps from 1975 to 1979.

The christening of DDG 126 symbolizes the Navy's 250-year commitment to innovation and maritime dominance. From seabed to space, the Navy delivers power for peace – always ready to fight and win. This milestone marks the Navy's enduring legacy and commitment to shaping the future of maritime power.

Arleigh Burke-class Flight III destroyers feature the AN/SPY-6(V)1 Air and Missile Defense Radar and incorporate upgrades to the electrical power and cooling capacity plus additional associated changes to provide enhanced warfighting capability to the fleet. Future destroyers Harvey C. Barnum Jr. (DDG 124), Patrick Gallagher (DDG 127), William Charette (DDG 130), Quentin Walsh (DDG 132), John E. Kilmer (DDG 134), Richard G. Lugar (DDG 136), and J. William Middendorf (DDG 138) are also in production at BIW.

From The National WWII Museum

The National WWII Museum mourns the loss of WWII veteran and dear friend George Hardy, who passed away this week at age 100. Hardy was one of the last surviving members of the trailblazing Tuskegee Airmen.

Hardy's passing was announced Friday by the Tuskegee Airmen, Inc. National Office.

"His legacy is one of courage, resilience, tremendous skill and dogged perseverance against racism, prejudice, and other evils," the organization wrote in the announcement. "We are forever grateful for his sacrifice and will hold dear to his memory."

Hardy was born in 1925 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, the second-oldest child of seven. When the Japanese forces attacked Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, Hardy remembered being upstairs doing homework when he heard the radio broadcast of the Eagles football game being interrupted to share the news.

His older brother had joined the US Navy in June and was serving as a cook on a destroyer in the North Atlantic. In 1943, after turning 17 years old, Hardy initially wanted to join the Navy to be with his brother, but his father refused to sign the necessary papers due to racial barriers in military roles.

Hardy later joined the US Army Air Forces, completing the Aviation Cadet Training Program at Tuskegee Army Air Field in 1944. Trained as a single-engine pilot and commissioned as a Second Lieutenant, Hardy deployed in early 1945 to Italy joining the African American 99th Fighter Squadron, 332nd Fighter Group. He flew 21 combat missions over Germany and occupied Europe piloting P-51 Mustang aircraft, often escorting heavy bombers. The Tuskegee Airmen, Inc. National Office said that Hardy was "the youngest Red Tail fighter pilot at 19 to fly his first combat sortie over Europe."

In his oral history interview with the Museum in 2014, Hardy recalled one mission where his plane was struck by small arms fire during a strafing run. He said he knew his plane was hit when he saw a flash of light coming through the cockpit floor, which was usually dark.

"What happened was something came through and splintered the aluminum on one side of the plane," he recalled. "And light started coming through on my feet."

Such hits could be dangerous, and Hardy recalled that "we lost a number of people on strafing missions."

Following World War II, Hardy flew 45 combat missions during the Korean War and 70 during the Vietnam War. He also earned a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering and a master's in systems engineering at the US Air Force Institute of Technology in Dayton, Ohio, and worked on the Department of Defense's first worldwide military telephone system. Hardy retired from the US
