

How to properly close “cowboy boxes”

Poly liners are pre-installed and, may require adjustments at the time of setup. The liner should be tucked into the bottom corners. The upper edge is then drawn down over the outside of the container.

The container is ready to be filled.

- 1) To close, gather the top of the polyethylene liner, twist and secure with a plastic zip tie.

2) Fold the flap with the fiberboard across the top and secure with attached fabric ties.

3) Fold the second cover flap across the first and secure with attached fabric ties.

- 4) Ensure the correct markings are on the container and close out the container in the Hazardous Material Management System for pick up.
