CAPTAIN'S CORNER

April is a busy month for the installation with three important recognitions: Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Month, Child Abuse Prevention Month, and the Month of the Military Child. Please take a look at the MWR and Fleet and Family Support Center calendars for the many events we are hosting to call attention to and show support for these programs.

Both Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Month and Child Abuse Prevention Month are a time for us to reaffirm our commitment to fostering a culture of dignity and respect within our installation. We must remain dedicated to our efforts to educate, prevent, and respond to incidents of sexual assault and child abuse. By actively participating in training programs and promoting bystander intervention, we can make meaningful progress towards reducing incidents and create an environment free from harassment and violence.

April also serves as a time to honor and celebrate the resilience of our military children. As they navigate the challenges of military life with courage and adaptability, it is important that we acknowledge their sacrifices and contributions. On April 17, local leaders and school officials will join me in signing the Month of the Military Child proclamation at 0900 at the Child Development Center. I extend a warm invitation to all to come out and show your support to our military children.

As we reflect on the significance of these observances, I encourage each of you to promote awareness, understanding, and support for these causes throughout the month. By working together, we can create a safer, more inclusive environment for all members of our military family.

Q&A with Robert Martin, NSA Mid-South's Emergency Management Officer

Q: Could you explain the role of an EMO?

A: "As the Emergency Management Officer, my role is to advise the Commanding Officer on hazards that could affect the installation, including identification, preparation, mitigation, and recovery from these hazards."

Q: What natural threats should people be aware of during this time of year?

A: "As we move from winter into spring, the main concerns are tornadoes and flash floods. The best preparation involves having a plan for your household and workspace, keeping your phone charged, having a weather radio, and knowing your shelter-in-place plan."

Q: How should one prepare a safe space during a tornado?

A: "Find the most interior room of your residence, away from windows. This space should be clear of debris, as most fatalities from tornadoes occur due to debris. A bathroom or closet is ideal. Also, have a supply of water and food for about a week in case of power loss."

Q: When is the peak of severe weather risk?

A: "Severe weather risks in the mid-south are somewhat year-round, with tornadoes from spring through summer, and the constant threat of flash floods and thunderstorms. Winter brings ice storms and snow."

Q: Any final recommendations for emergency preparedness?

A: "The community's preparedness is crucial. Educate yourself on the threats, have a plan for both work and home, and ensure you have a means to receive notifications. Registering for Ad Hoc and using FEMA's free app recommended."

Total Solar Eclipse and Eye Health

A total solar eclipse will cross over parts of North America on April 8th, and can be experienced throughout the continental United States, ranging from Texas to Maine. While this celestial event will likely be celebrated and observed by millions, eye safety is a priority in understanding how to prepare for this unique opportunity.

What is a Total Solar Eclipse?

According to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), a solar eclipse occurs when the Sun, Moon, and Earth line up partially or totally. A total solar eclipse occurs when the Moon passes between the Sun and Earth, completely blocking the Sun momentarily. Unlike in a partial solar eclipse, in the total solar eclipse the moon completely covers the entire face of the sun. For this reason, it is essential to understand eye safety while viewing a partial solar eclipse or a total solar eclipse¹.

Vision Health and Eye Protection

Staring directly at a solar eclipse, even for seconds without specialized solar filters, can result in damage to the eye with temporary or permanent vision loss. The most common vision injury that can happen is “solar retinopathy” – damage to the back of the eye, to the cells in the retina. Unfortunately, there is no clinical treatment for solar retinopathy. Understanding the potential risks and actively participating in safe viewing practices is crucial to avoid eye injuries^{3,4}.

Recommendations for Safe Eclipse Viewing

1. Use Certified Eclipse Viewing Glasses: According to NASA, always wear eclipse viewing glasses (which have special filters for direct sun observation) while observing the partial phases of an eclipse. Ensure that eclipse viewing glasses meet international safety standards (ISO 12312-2)^{3,4}. Regular glasses, contact lenses and sunglasses are NOT sufficient for solar viewing.

2. Inspect Your Eclipse Viewing Glasses: Before using approved eclipse viewing glasses, carefully inspect them for any damage or scratches. Do not use compromised glasses, as this can lead to eye damage⁴.

3. Use Solar Filters for Optical Devices: You must use special-purpose solar filters in front of the binoculars, telescopes, smartphones, or camera lenses⁵. Using optical devices without solar filters, do not protect your eyes from UV damage. While using a smartphone remember to look at the phone screen, and not at the sun directly when taking your photos or videos⁵.

4. Stay Informed: Know the timing and path of the eclipse and plan to observe it from a safe location. Be aware of when totality will occur in your area⁵.

For specific timings and locations of the total solar eclipse, refer to the map below⁷.

Source: NASA

5. Educate Others: Share information about safe eclipse viewing practices with friends, family, children, and the community. Make sure everyone uses proper eye protection, and especially supervise children by keeping eclipse viewing glasses over their eyes for the entire event. Consider having extra eclipse viewing glasses to share^{5,6}. For more information visit: <https://science.nasa.gov/eclipses/safety/>

Prescription Drug Take Back Day

DEA's National Prescription Drug Take Back campaign is a commitment to Americans' safety and health, encouraging the public to remove unneeded medications from their homes to prevent medication misuse and opioid addiction from ever starting. Nearly one-third of veteran suicide attempts involve prescription medicine, and over 70% of prescription pain medication misuse involves drugs obtained from friends or relatives, according to the Office of National Drug Control Policy. By properly disposing of their medications through the Military Health System's (MHS) Drug Take Back program, our beneficiaries can lower these risks.

National Prescription Drug Takeback is a bi-annual event that occurs on the last Saturdays of April and October. The next event is on 27 April 2024. For Sailors, this observation serves as a good reminder to organize your medicine cabinet and properly dispose of unused medications (e.g.: both prescription and over-the-counter drugs, ointments, creams, lotions, powders, and liquid medicines up to four ounces) both for your own well-being, and for the safety of family members.

In addition, be responsible by keeping your children safe from unknown or accidental ingestion. Never leave your prescription drugs on a kitchen counter or bedside table. They can be safely secured in a lockbox for storage. Remember, that older children are also at risk; the 2019 Youth Risk Behavior Survey found that slightly more than seven percent of high school students reported current misuse of prescription drugs.

For more information on Prescription Take Back Day, please visit the DEA website at <https://www.dea.gov/takebackday>.

SAPR Program Updates:

- Expansion of Restricted Reporting: Victims can now file a restricted report even if they have disclosed their sexual assault to commanders or chain of command personnel. This change allows for greater confidentiality and support without triggering an official investigation.
- Extended Timeline for Expedited Transfers: The time for commanders to decide on a victim's request for an expedited transfer, following an unrestricted report, has been extended from three to five days. This aims to provide victims with a swifter transition away from the environment where the assault occurred.
- Clarification on Law Enforcement Reporting: The updates clarify that victims retain the option for restricted reporting even after disclosing the assault to their chain of command, as long as they haven't directly reported to law enforcement or filed an unrestricted report.
- Commander's Immediate Reporting Obligations: Commanders are required to immediately contact Military Criminal Investigation Organizations (MCIOs) upon notification of a sexual assault, ensuring timely and professional investigations.
- Protection of Victim Privacy: Emphasis is placed on maintaining the confidentiality and privacy of victims throughout the reporting and investigation process, regardless of the type of report filed.

- Increased Training and Awareness: There's a push for enhanced training for command personnel on handling sexual assault allegations, understanding the nuances of restricted and unrestricted reporting, and protecting victims from retaliation.
- Improvements in Data Management: Updates to the Defense Sexual Assault Incident Database (DSAID) have been implemented, improving the tracking of cases and ensuring comprehensive data on sexual assault incidents is maintained.
- Expanded Eligibility for Support Services: Policy revisions have broadened the eligibility criteria for victims to access support services, aiming to ensure comprehensive care for all affected individuals.
- Enhanced Oversight of Victim Safety and Case Management: New guidelines have been established for the oversight of victim safety, expedited transfer completion, and the adjudication of retaliation allegations, emphasizing a victim-centered approach.
- Digital and Administrative Updates: Introduction of new forms and digital procedures to streamline the reporting process, making it easier for victims to navigate the SAPR program and for authorities to manage cases effectively.

These changes reflect a concerted effort to strengthen the SAPR program's responsiveness, confidentiality, and victim support mechanisms.

SAPR Program Welcomes New Advocates

On January 24, the NSA Mid-South SAPR Office welcomed 10 prospective unit victim advocates. They represented NPC, NTAG Mid-America, and the University of Missouri NROTC Unit. Prospective advocates completed our 40-hour victim advocate training that prepares the participants with the skills and knowledge to become Unit Victim Advocates (UVA). Cindy Stavrides, NSA Mid-South's Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC) conducted the 40-hour training, covering a broad spectrum of services available to sexual assault victims. These include the role and responsibilities of SAPR personnel, Confidentiality Policy, Victimization, Reporting Options, Medical, Investigative, Legal Processes, and Self-Care.

Guest speakers in attendance were Captain Michael Mosbrugger, Special Agent Ryan Heflin, Lisa Adams LMFT, CDR Paul Smith, LT Dyllan Taxman, Sheneara Guide-Wade MSN, APRN, FNP-C, Shelby County Crime Victims and Rape Crisis Center (CVRCC), and Dr. Amanda Taylor, Nursing Director (CVRCC).

Throughout the 40-hour training, the prospective advocates gained a better understanding of command and system responses, how to address safety needs, provide services, referrals, and advocacy throughout the process from initial reporting to final adjudication or disposition.

After completing training, prospective advocates are eligible to apply to the Department of Defense Sexual Assault Certification Program (D-SAACP) as a requirement to be certified as a SAPR Unit Victim Advocate. We look forward to our prospective advocates joining the SAPR team!

If you are interested in becoming a Unit Victim Advocate, please contact Cindy Stavrides - lacinda.r.stavrides.naf@us.navy.mil.

Our next training class will be held April 29 - May 3.

Sexual Assault Awareness & Prevention Month

WED. 24 APRIL DENIM DAY

Denim Day History

Denim Day Campaign was born out of 1992 Italian case where an 18 year old was assaulted by her 46 year old driving instructor. His conviction was overturned because the victim wore "tight jeans". The Italian Supreme Court ruled "that since her jeans were "very tight" she had to help him remove them and thusly it was no longer rape but instead consensual sex". The women in the Italian Parliament, outraged at the ruling wore jeans to work in protest. This protest and campaign spread to the US and has continued every year as a sign of solidarity since April 1999.

MONTH OF THE MILITARY CHILD

On the evening of April 3, Clark Tower Memphis lit up their tower purple in support of Month of the Military Child! The 34 floor Clark Tower is an iconic landmark in the Memphis skyline. Its enduring presence symbolizes Memphis' growth and economic vitality over the decades.

We'd like to thank the Clark Tower team for honoring our military children in such a big way!

Coming soon to a quarterdeck near you! We've set up at NMRTU Memphis, NTAG Nashville, NPC, and CNRC, and would love to make your command next on the list!

Contact the FFSC at 901-874-7423 for more information!

Family Advocacy Program

We encourage you to attend ALL modules, however we understand that your schedule may only allow for 1 or 2.

Every April, the Office of Military Community and Family Policy supports and celebrates military-connected children and their parents during Month of the Military Child.

Wear purple. Join the Office of the Secretary of Defense in celebrating and promoting Purple Up Day on April 8 and show your appreciation for our extraordinary MilKids.

This year's theme, Taking Care of Our Military Children, focuses on and promotes a variety of programs and support available to help military-connected children, youth and teens and their parents thrive.

The official flower of the Military child is the Dandelion.

Why?

The plant puts down roots almost anywhere, and it's almost impossible to destroy. It's an unpretentious plant, yet good looking. It's a survivor in a broad range of climates. Military children bloom everywhere the winds carry them. They are hardy and upright. Their roots are strong, cultivated deeply in the culture of the military, planted swiftly and surely. They're ready to fly in the breezes that take them to new adventures, new lands, and new friends.

FFSC Virtual Clinical Counseling CONNECT to GET CARE

The Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC) now provides in-person and virtual clinical counseling! Sailors and families can access virtual clinical counseling from the privacy of their own homes. Virtual clinical counseling is a nonmedical, clinical, short-term solution-focused service. It is available to individuals, couples and families.

To schedule an appointment, call 1-855-205-6749. If calling outside of regular business hours, leave a message. Your call will be returned within one business day.

Health & Wellness News from NMRTU Memphis

APRIL - SEXUAL HEALTH MONTH

Week 1 - Active Duty Sailors and Marines acquire preventable sexually transmitted infections (STIs) and experience unplanned pregnancy. Negative consequences of sexual risk taking for the individual Sailors or Marines may include pain and suffering, embarrassment, lifelong health, career, family or relationship consequences, and long term financial consequences. The CDC estimates that approximately 19 million new STIs occur each year, almost half of them among young people ages 15 to 24. Condoms should be used every time - even in "established" relationships - at least until the people in these new relationships are confident that it will be a long-term, mutually faithful relationship AND confident that neither partner has brought an infection into the relationship (for example, by being tested together).

Reminder! The Pharmacy will close at 1300 every 4th Wednesday of the month for training.

Week 2 - One active duty Sailor or Marine is diagnosed with HIV about every 5 days. From 2018 through 2023, at least 346 active duty Sailors and Marines were diagnosed with HIV.

Approximately 61% were still in military service in 2023. Among active duty sailors and marines with HIV, almost all are men, and about 7 of 10 of these men are men who have sex with men. Men who have sex with men (MSM), particularly young, African-American MSM, are most severely affected by HIV. HIV is preventable. HIV Pre-exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP) is available in every DoD medical facility and can reduce the patient's risk of acquiring HIV by 90%. Talk to a health care provider if you have any sexual health concerns and find out what treatment options are available. Testing for all sexually transmitted infections is readily available at the base clinic to all beneficiaries free of charge.

Week 3 - In 2018, over 9900 active duty members were infected with Chlamydia, gonorrhea or syphilis. The incidence of other sexually transmitted infection, including genital herpes, genital warts, Human Papillomavirus-associated cervical carcinoma, hepatitis B, pelvic inflammatory disease and trichomoniasis are not tracked and costs are not known. Between 2020 and 2022, the number of diagnosed syphilis cases among male and female active duty service members increased by 40%. Chlamydia is the most frequently reported sexually transmitted infection among active duty Sailors and Marines. More than half of preventable infertility cases among American women is caused by sexually transmitted infections - particularly Chlamydia and gonorrhea. All sexually active women aged 24 and under should ask their doctor about being tested annually for STI's. Health care providers in medical clinics can help members learn about, understand, and reduce the risk of sexually transmitted infections. Make an appointment today if you have any questions or concerns about STI's.

Week 4 - In 2022, only about 35% of pregnancies among surveyed enlisted Sailors were planned pregnancies. The national Healthy People 2030 objective is for at least 63% of pregnancies to be planned. Among Navy women who said they were using birth control when they became pregnant, most were using the birth control pill (57% among female enlisted women). Birth control pills are more failure-prone than long-acting reversible contraceptives, like the copper IUD, hormonal IUD and hormonal implant. If a woman has had intercourse without using birth control or if something happened (such as a condom broke), she can use emergency contraception up to 72 hours after unprotected sex. Emergency contraceptive pills will not protect a person from sexually transmitted infections. Talk to your PCM and find out what birth control option is best for you.
